That the circumstances connected with the securing of a tax deed by Charles J. Chalsma indicated fraud was the sensational declaration of Circuit Judge E. C. Higbee yesterday.

It was the claim of Rademacher, holder of a $780 mortgage on the property, that Chalsma secured the deed without giving notice of his claim.

In the suit Mrs. Chalsma lined up with the plaintiff against her husband, contradicting his claims that she had been notified of his intention to apply for the deed.

Joseph Dubraks testified that Chalsma requested him to take out the tax deed. Dubraks testified that he refused because such procedure without formal notice of application would be illegal.

City Clerk E. H. Hoffman testified that Chalsma secured the deed after making affidavit that notice of application had been given.

Chalsma insisted that he had given notice of his intention to apply for the deed to his wife. She, on the stand, swore that no such notice had been given her.

ONALASKA DEFEATED BY PRAIRIE DU CHIEN

Canning Season Has Opened in Onalaska with the Largest Crop in History of Factory

ONALASKA, Wis., June 16.—Onalaska met defeat at the hands of the Prairie du Chien aggregation at Prairie du Chien Sunday afternoon by the score of 4 to 0. Onalaska was unable to hit the ball hard enough to secure runs and this, together with poor umpiring, spelled defeat for the locals. The players say they got a bad game of ball out of their systems now and will be good for a few more victories. Sickles, pitching for Onalaska, allowed but four hits.

Picnic in La Crosse

The members of the Sunday school of the Methodist church will hold a picnic at Myrick park at La Crosse today. A number of auto owners have offered the use of their machines to convey the crowd to La Crosse and a royal good time is expected.

Attends Summer School

Miss Ethel Burnham left Saturday for Madison, where she will attend summer school. Miss Burnham will resume her duties at the agricultural school the fall.

Start Canning Peas

The Onalaska Pickle and Canning company started canning peas this morning. The machinery was tried out Saturday afternoon preparatory to their large run. The recent rains have made the pea crop in this section the largest in the history of the factory and more machinery has been added to hurry the canning process along.

Makes Improvements

P. M. Hovind, owner and manager of Onalaska's new bakery, started his business in earnest on Saturday. Mr. Hovind has made extensive improvements at his place.

WILLIAM OF WIED FIGHTS FOR THRONE

At Head of 9,000 Men He Defends Durazzo Against 27,000 Mussulmans

VIENNA, June 16.—Fighting for the throne to which he was raised by the powers, Prince William of Albania, formerly of Wied, was on the firing line today repelling at the head of his troops constant attacks from an army of his insurgent Mussulman subjects on Durazzo, the capital.

At the head of 9,000 men Prince William, it is said in dispatches received here, has beaten off all day long the attacks of 27,000 insurgents who from several sides began to storm the city at 4 o'clock this morning. So fierce were the attacks of the insurgents, however, that it was doubted if the defenders of the city could hold out until tonight.

Determined to prevent serious looting or massacre in case the city should fall, commanders of the international fleet at Durazzo today landed troops, mostly marines, who are on guard at the various foreign legations. Of these the Austrian marines are the most numerous.

F. M. BRAY MAKES FARM A SUCCESS

F. M. Bray is making a success of his farm near this city, bringing four crates of strawberries to market today.

THE TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

CALLING IT OFF

By DONALD ALLEN
Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

Miss Hattie Piers was a young-old maid. She was 24, which is the beginning of old maid-dom. Where it ends nobody knows. Moses Shaw was an old young bachelor. He was 30 years old, but he didn't look it.

Miss Hattie lived at Lansing. Moses lived at Charlotte. It was 100 miles between them as the crow or any other sensible bird flies.

Moses could darn his socks with twine, sew on a patch or mend a rip in his coat, and as he had always heard that marriage was a failure he wasn't taking any chances.

It was the business of Fate to bring those two persons together. Miss Hattie had a sister who lived at Medina. That sister broke a leg, and must have a nurse. That was why Miss Hattie arrived.

A saw mill man at Medina heard that Moses could run a saw mill as slick as a trust can run a grocery out of business, and he sent for him.

Behold how easy it was for Fate to bring things about if she wants to! No fuss nor feathers! Miss Hattie and Moses reached Medina on the same day. They entered the same store on the same day. She enquired for ribbon, and he for a paper of pins. They bumped together as they came out. They laughed and apologized.

"Nice gal," said Moses to himself as he walked away.

"Nice man," said the girl to herself as she walked away.

And four weeks later Moses was calling on her and admiring, and in three months they were engaged. It fairly gives one the chills to see how things do come around.

Moses had saved up $200, and the girl half of that. They talked it over and decided to wait until they had saved another hundred dollars before marrying. Meanwhile, being sure of each other, and Moses coming a-sparking three nights out of seven, it wouldn't be so bad to wait.

Miss Hattie wasn't the only girl to leave her home and arrive at Medina. In due time Miss Nancy Smith landed there to visit an aunt. Miss Smith was an old maid without the prefix "young". She was at least thirty and if they hadn't hidden away the family Bible an entry there might have made her out three years older.

Fate might have ordained that her and Moses were to meet. Fate is mighty liberal sometimes.

Every village has its prominent mudhole. Medina's was just opposite the courthouse. It could have been filled up and made a joy of, but it had been a mudhole for years and years. It was still a mudhole, and in the best of spirits, when Miss Smith walked into it. It was Moses who dashed to the rescue and saved her life.

"Thanks, brave man!" gasped Miss Smith.

"Oh, it was nothing."

"But you surely saved my life, and I can't find words in which to thank you."

Moses stood twisting about and didn't know what to say.

"You will give me your name?" said Miss Smith.

He gave it in exchange for hers, and she smiled and simpered and said: "You must call on me this very evening."

"Gosh! all hemlock!" exclaimed Moses as he went to his boarding house. "Say, now, she's the handsomest woman that I've seen here yet. Smiled at me. Called me a hero. Invited me to call. Shouldn't wonder if it was a case of love at first sight on her part. Guess I was fit a mighty great hurry to take up with Hattie."

Moses called. He was charmed. He was praised to the skies for his heroism. He was flattered for his looks and figure. He was compared to Bayard and several other old has-beens whom he never heard of. When he gave his occupation as foreman of a sawmill, he did it rather reluctantly but joy shone in his eyes as Miss Smith exclaimed: "How grand! How noble! What would have the world done without its sawmills?"

"They are very handy things," he murmured.

"Handy, Mr. Shaw? Why we'd be living in brass butts but for the sawmills. The world would have advanced without Shakespeare, Milton, Byron, and the other poets, but where would have it been today but for its sawmills?"

"Just so, Miss Smith."

Miss Smith could sing. She could play the piano. She insisted that Moses also had a voice, and when he tried it out at her request the cat left the room.

Moses was captivated. He was mashed flat. He was in love from head to heel, and there he was bound to Miss Hattie! He must get out of it in some way. Plenty of men have been in the same fix.

He tried to pick a row, but the girl was placid. Then he hinted that if they were not engaged he would go to the African diamond fields and accumulate a bushel or two of the precious stones.

Then he said he rather dreaded marriage on account of his violent temper. If he were to get mad at his wife he would certainly murder

As sure to rise as the Sun

You can't always make everything "just so." Sometimes you will get in more shortening than usual; or make the batter a little thin; or it may not be convenient to put a cake in the oven the moment it is mixed; or your oven may not bake evenly and it is necessary to turn the pan around—none of these little uncertainties make the slightest difference in results if you use her in her sleep.

Miss Hattie listened to this and much more, and then said: "Moses, perhaps you entered into this engagement without having given it serious consideration."

"I—I think I did," he replied.

"In that case I shouldn't want to hold you to the engagement."

"You wouldn't?"

"Certainly not. We had best call it off and give you time to think the matter over."

"And you won't be mad?"

"On the contrary, I hope you will drop in to see me quite often."

"By gum, ain't I the lucky dog?" crowed Moses when he was clear of the house. "Never got mad. Never cried. Never made a threat."

Miss Hattie could have mentioned Miss Smith, as she had heard of the mudhole rescue and knew that Moses was a caller on the rescued, but she had never dropped a hint. Intuition might have told her how things would turn out, or she was willing to take a chance.

Moses called on his new love Saturday evening and proposed a trip on the river on Sunday. He was called a more heroes for it. He was called a darling. He was also asked if he was heart-free, and he truthfully replied he was. He didn't protest that evening, but he meant to next day.

There are certain people who can hide their defects from the world as long as everything is running smoothly. Miss Smith was one of the sort, but few outside of her relatives knew it. Sunday morning she was upset about several things that had happened, and though she had a smile she was ready with an acid tongue for any one who provoked her further. Moses displayed such clumsiness that she called out: "Be careful, you lout, or you will tip us over!"

Moses laughed. He rather liked it. He was no boatman, and before they had gone forty rods he splashed her with water from one of the oars.

"Do you think I'm a haystack on fire? I don't believe you were ever in a boat before in your life!" she shouted.

"We haven't got fairly started yet," he protested.

"Then heaven only knows what is to happen further on! What are you grinning like a monkey for?"

"Because it was so good of you to come."

"Um!"

"Do you know, I would rather be here than anywhere else in this world."

"You'll be at the bottom of the river and I along with you if you don't look out!" half screamed Miss Smith as the boat grazed a log.

"I shall save you if the boat tips over. Didn't I save you from that mudhole? Hain't I a hero?"

"There! You have lost an oar, you fool, you!"

"I can recover it, darling. Don't be afraid to trust yourself with me even if we lose both oars. I wanted you to come with me today that I might tell you—"

"Tell nothing! Get that oar and row straight back! A hero! Why you are nothing but a pug of a sawmill man."

Moses looked at her with open mouth and bulging eyes. "Hasn't the sawmill advanced civilization?"

"No! It has increased the number of idiots."

The sudden and unexpected jolt had bewildered Moses, and in trying to recover the lost oar the other went astray.

"Mercy on me!"

But the half sunken old log ahead had no mercy. The boat struck it and went over, and Moses waded ashore on one side of the river and Miss Smith on the other.

That evening the hero, still a little damp around the edges, called on his old love and said: "Hattie let's get married before I have time to make a fool of myself again."

And Hattie smiled. The marriage took place.

Ex-King Manuel's wife is going to get a divorce. The world will agree that she is probably entitled to it.

GROWING BOYS AND GIRLS

The following argument was presented by a fellow passenger in a recent railway journey. A faithful reproduction of his word has been attempted.

"Recommend athletics for boys, and for girls too! In support of the suggestion, I'd like to offer the testimony of my own experience."

"As a youngster, I took a very keen interest in sports. As you know, I gained a fairly prominent position and some fame. All through my boyhood I was 'hard as nails.' Every spare minute from study, chores, etc., was taken up by some sort of physical play. As a consequence I had little or no time for dissipation and I had no nerves. I didn't need the stimulation of coffee and tea nor the soothing influence of cigarettes. Besides, I knew that these would spoil my chances of winning in athletic contests."

"I had little or no time for girls, and none whatever for any but the rough and ready kind with clean bodies and clean minds. The self-conscious, sex-conscious girls didn't interest me for a moment."

"Appetites were curbed and controlled by my athletic ambitions. With high ambitions in this direction, the simple diet of the training table had a glamour which overwhelmed, what was considered by me, the appetite of a mollycoddle. The hunger occasioned by my strenuous physical exercise and played made plain substantial food satisfying."

"There was no time to waste on listening to and telling stories that were 'off color.' I hadn't as yet learned much about introspection. Love stories and sentimental, passionate, and poetic 'outpourings of the soul' were written in a language I didn't understand. What did I know or care about unrequited love? I could easily understand the triumphs and despair of the arena, the diamond, the gridiron, and the racetrack. There was real life."

"Accounts of explorations, wars, strikes, and struggles of all kinds struck a responsive chord. These I could understand. Imagination worked overtime filling in the gaps in the stories. Days made up as those were clear days. Nights were needed for sleep: reinvigorating, dreamless, physical and mental relaxation."

"You have properly called attention to the dangers that may accompany competitive athletics. I've seen bad results. Nevertheless, an athlete's heart is not nearly as distressing as other diseases and conditions which are prone to attack the non-athletic type of boy and girl."

"My own boys and girls are being encouraged to take an absorbing interest in athletics. I am confident that, as a result, they will be cleaner young men and women, cleaner mentally, physically and morally."

TO FINISH WORK

MADISON, Wis., June 16.—The supreme court will wind up the year's work tomorrow by announcing opinions and receiving the 1914 law class of the University of Wisconsin. The justices will soon thereafter leave for their annual vacations.

FIRST USE OF RESINOL STOPS TERRIBLE ITCH

Jan. 27, 1914: "I suffered over eight years with eczema. It started in one little place and kept spreading until it covered my hands. My hands looked like they had been burned by fire and peeled off in large pieces until they were only raw flesh. I was told it was eczema. It itched and burned me so that I could not sleep at night. I tried all sorts of eczema salves and one prescription after another but nothing gave me any relief until I tried Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment, and after the first application my hands never itched or burned again, and were well in one week. I want every sufferer from eczema to know that they can find a cure in Resinol." (Signed) Miss Ethel Scott, Milstead, Ga.

Physicians have prescribed Resinol for nineteen years, for all sorts of skin troubles, pimples, dandruff, sores, ulcers, burns, etc. Every druggist sells Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap.

Daddy's Bedtime

The Robins Come to The Rescue.

THE honeysuckles were beginning to bud. Already the humming birds were hovering near and had built a nest right in the heart of the vine. This vine was in a nice old fashioned garden, but near by there was a vacant lot which was very swampy.

"You know the garden by the vacant lot?" began daddy.

"Yes," replied both the children; "are you going to tell us a story about that garden?"

"I am going to tell you," said daddy, "about the mother humming bird whose little ones were attacked by a cruel snake when they were rescued by the brave robins."

"The snake had come over from the vacant field and had crawled up the honeysuckle vine as the mother humming bird had gone off for some food. Some robins hovering near had seen the awful snake. They had cried out in terror and had flown over to the nest."

"The mother humming bird heard the cries and hurried back, but the robins had frightened off the snake. The snake was not a very large one, and really he had been frightened by all the noise the robins had made, and when he saw so many birds flying toward him he got away very quickly."

"The mother humming bird got back just as the snake was leaving the nest."

"She couldn't thank the robins enough for flying to the rescue and saving her beloved little ones, but the robins didn't want any thanks. They were thankful, too, that the dear little birds had been saved, for birds are very loyal to one another and will risk any danger to save each other."

OF NATURE"The Retail Liquor Dealers have taken a wise step in demanding that the council refrain from granting licenses to certain saloons which have by their lax management,
brought the more law abiding class of saloons into disrepute. If the saloons are to have a "standing of respectability" they must protect themselves from being dragged to the level of disorderly places, for the public has a habit of measuring all saloons by the lowest stratum. Secretary Charles Dittman is showing some horse sense in the matter, and his effort to cultivate better public sentiment will have the support of all liquor men who know the difference between a lime and a lemon.LET THE FIGHT
BE IN THE OPENThe Tribune is a progressive newspaper. To make that plainer, it is a "halfbreed" newspaper. In politics,
it accepts and offers no compromises, scorns to mislead stalwarts as to the character of its candidates, for votes;
declines to be misled as to the character of stalwart candidates. By
"character" is meant political belief
and purpose.The candidates this paper supports must be out in the open. They must take their places on the firing line, squarely facing the stalwart opponents. They must be as frank as was"Dr." Wilson when he told Dr. Harvey that the latter's support through a standpat publication was unwell-come. (It may be well to note that
"Dr." Wilson is now "President" Wilson.)It was this frank, uncompromising position that won the progressive victories of the past in Wisconsin. It was compromise that kept Iowa fiddling between its two factions while Wisconsin progressives swept the field. Flat, square, uncompromising fighting, we believe, is the better politics, but be that as it may, we prefer defeat in the open, on a clean-cut platform, uncompromisingly facing the foe, to the more than doubtful triumph of winning through equivocation, "fixing" and compromise.We believe our stalwart friends have more respect for our avowed
and open hostility than for the paper
whose weakly meandering course
neither friend nor foe can follow.
The truculently stalwart Sentinel commands our respect more fully than do sometimes friendly papers that teeter to touch, at some time or other, the level of every stratum of political sentiment.A DAY OF INSPIRATIONFete day at the normal furnished
its usual inspiration. The training school's contributions to the program have a significance outside the mere enjoyment they afford patrons of the event, for they show how the normal teaches teachers to teach.
The normal features of the program
give us a glimpse of the teachers to-be, a sense of what manner of people they are. The entire program is wide of range and wholesome in character, leading always upward to the best things in music, literature and art. To get the full scope of the institution along these lines, the musical and dramatic programs of the previous week must be considered.
Taken together these school enterprises show understanding of the educational problem in its broader sense, sympathy with the student the basis of which is comprehension of what is in young minds and bodies.
Such educating is not a mere filling process—as well it is a rounding out of character.A valuable phase of the normal is its self-sufficiency. As a school it is ample, complete. For instance, the normal band, without which, in the absence of hired musicians, Fete day
could not approach its present capacity for entertainment and interest.

BUILDING A LIFE.

Human life is a building. It rises slowly day by day throughout the years. Every new lesson we learn lays a block on the edifice
which is rising silently within us.
Every influence that impresses us,
every book we read, every conversation we have—indeed, every act
of our commonest days—adds
something to the invisible building.

"Now comes the season when the

"You look it, too," said the doctor, sympathetically. "I'm not going condition. No, sir, what I'm going to prescribe for you is gardening.""The patient started and his unhealthy pallor turned to a dull brick red."But, doc," he said, "gardening is the source of all my trouble.""Humph!" What kind of gardening?" said the doctor, incredulously.

"Roof," the man replied.

"Why, I think it's horrid to let the

A Misreading.

A detective said to a reporter
appropos of a celebrated case:"Here our friends misread the evidence. It is easy to misread evi-tramp carrying a pitchfork."Holy smoke, Weary," the fartramp replied, with a good natured laugh. "I borrowed it to brile a slice

The Pig's Bowl.

A minister, spending a holiday in the north of Ireland, was out walking and, feeling thirsty, called at a farmhouse for a drink of milk. The farmer's wife gave him a large bowl
of milk, and while he was quenching his thirst a number of pigs got round about him. The minister noticed that the pigs were very strange in their manner, so he said:"My good lady, why are the pigs
so excited?"The farmer's wife replied: "Sure,
it's no wonder they are excited sir,
it's their own little bowl you are drinking out of!"

said the little girl. "Yes," replied her small brother thoughtfully. "But he

They had ascended the river Powhatan until they came to a town called by the same name, one of the chief places in those parts, for here
was the dwelling of the Indian emperor whose name likewise was Powhatan. Beyond this point they had not been able to go far in their boats, by reason of the rocks and rapids; so a little beyond the Indian town they had made a landing and set up a cross, naming the river
the James or King's River, as was proper since our gracious lord was the first Christian prince to send soldiers thither. But neither gold nor South Sea had they found, and from what they could gather from the savages, Smith judged that the other ocean lay to the westward many days' journey. Newport, however, thought differently, believing
if they had a boat so built that it could be taken apart and carried around the falls on men's shoulders,
the South Sea might still be reached by water with no great toil or hazard.John Smith appeared before the Council that night and claimed his right to be present at its deliberations, which was at once denied by Wingfield and Kendall. Those old charges of mutiny and conspiracy were bandied about, which somewhat galled my friend, who, after telling them a few plain truths,
swore that since he was denied his rights, they should try him and either prove his guilt or allow him to establish his innocence.Here Newport and Ratcliffe took a hand in the debate. They urged on him that it were wiser he should return to England, and place his case
before the London Council to deal with; for if he were tried and found guilty in Virginia it would utterly discredit him with the company, and it might pass the power of the Council to restrain people if they chose to wreck a rough justice on him for his plotting. Whereat Smith said very quietly, as I was afterward told by Captain Gosnold, that if it were true he had plotted to kill the Council and set himself up for king, no vengeance that men could take would be too swift or terrible—let him have his trial.On this there was something of an uproar, and Wingfield, no doubt feeling sure of honest Master Cassen, swore with great oaths that he would no longer be a buckler to shield Captain Smith from the consequences of his own folly and weakness; that since our charter gave us the right, he would be brought to trial on the morrow; and with this he dismissed the Council.Never did men witness a more miserable fiasco than John Smith's trial. For when Cassen was brought forward to give his testimony touching that notable design of Smith's to murder the Council and make himself king of Virginia, he told a vastly different story than Wingfield had expected to hear come from his lips, making the fraud and venom
of the president's charges seem so clear that Captain Kendall, who had the managing of him on the witness stand, would fain, I doubt not, have rather had the devil himself to deal with than that blunt soldier. In vain he sought to stay his steady flow of words, but honest Cassen talked straight on, having it in his mind to ease himself once and for all of everything he knew concerning the matter in hand; whilst our company first laughed and then began to jeer, remembering presently how it was that Smith had never set himself up for better than the meanest,
that he had been the first man
ashore, and the foremost to our rescue the day previous, and that of our own knowledge we knew naught
of unkindness or incivility from him.
So as we thought of these things
the laughter died down whilst the jeers continued, and I could see Wingfield sucking his lips in dumb misery of the situation. Even his friends drew away from him. They had no mind to ruin themselves in his behalf since he had so bungled
in his plotting.The upshot of the whole evil business was that it was adjudged that Smith should take his place in the Council and that Wingfield should pay him damages to the value of two hundred pounds in such goods
as he had in hand; these goods
Smith afterward directed should be thrown into the common store, for he ever carried a prince's heart in a beggar's purse.It was plain that the welfare of our little band depended chiefly upon our union, since we were in an unknown land exposed to attacks of hostile natives, and Mr. Hunt did his part in bringing peace to the councils of our leaders; he went from one to the other with words of right import, saying how they should love and forgive their enemies. His arguments prevailed, since there were none who did not love him because of his exceeding goodness, and by the very next Sunday he had so far mended the strife of our factions

that we all received our Holy Communion together. And indeed, it did seem that the spirit of peace had come into our midst, for on Monday
there appeared an embassy from the savages with word that their emperor Powhatan desired to live in friendship with us.Captain Newport sailed for England the middle of June. He carried my letters—aye, and my heart,
too, for I would have made any sacrifice to be allowed to go with him.
From the beach I watched the ships
drop down the river with the tide
and a light wind that barely sufficed
to keep their sails full; and presently they had passed about a bend in the shore and from my sight.

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

We fell on evil times after Newport left us, for while the ships remained at anchor off our island we had carried on a brisk trade with the sailors, who were willing to barter a share of their bread and meat
for furs and sassafras roots, the latter a commodity that fetched a fabulous price in England, the belief being that it had rare virtue in physic for the cure of many diseases.But now that the ships were gone,
there was nothing but the common kettle into which went every man's allowance, a half pint of wheat and as much barley—this, boiled in riverwater, was our daily mess. At first we had helped out this ration with fish, oysters, and what game we could kill or could induce the Indians to bring us; but presently these supplies failed, the Indians no longer
came to the fort, our store of cured sturgeon was consumed, and the other fish which earlier in the season had come in abundance into our river, now disappeared.

Womanly Prudence.

Women don't risk much as a rule,
but the limit in caution was reached
the other day when a lady on a bus
in Whitehall inquired the fare to Bayswater. She was told it was threepence-halfpenny. "Only take two-

she handed him a shilling; "you may

would have given a guinea to see the expression on that conductor's face.

MISS MARY McCUE
DIES IN MISSOURI

Word was received here today of the death of Miss Mary McCue at the home of her sister, Mrs. Fuller, in Springfield Mo. Miss McCue was formerly a resident of the North side. She was a sister of Thomas McCue of the town of Campbell. The body will arrive here this evening over the Burlington. The funeral will be held tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock at St. James church. Rev. Ambrose Murphy will officiate. Interment will take place in the Catholic cemetery.

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a glass of Salts if your Back hurts or Bladder Troubles you.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they suggestily filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headache, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications. Agent Chas. A. Benschlag, Druggist, 503 Main street.

Special Train Halts Here to Give Giant Burlington Locomotive "Once-
over"

A number of members of the American Association of Mechanical Engineers, who passed through the city this morning enroute to the convention of that body at St. Paul, stopped off at the Burlington shops at Grand Crossing to inspect the new mogul recently added to the force of monster locomotives.

The engine measures 83 feet in length, has five pairs of drivers, and has a tractive power of 71,500 pounds, with a cylinder pressure of 175 pounds. It is one of five such moguls built for the Burlington road by the Baldwin Locomotive works of Philadelphia. It exceeds in size and power many of the Mallet engines on that and other roads.

The engine is the last word in modern appliances, being equipped with power-reversing gears, mechanical stoker, and a combustion chamber firebox, a firebox with a chamber between the grates and the flues to produce a more perfect combustion. The engine is classed as an M 1, of the articulated type, that is, with but one pair of cylinders. The boiler is 88 1-2 inches in diameter. The drivers are 60 inches in diameter. The weight of the engine proper is 378,700 pounds, with the tender, 576,500 pounds. The tender has a water capacity of 10,000 gallons, 2,000 more than the average capacity. The engine recently hauled a test train of 4500 tons from Savanna.

Two other special trains went through on the Burlington today, one of Dunkards bound for Montana, at six o'clock this morning, and one of Russian emigrants at three o'clock this afternoon.

Defiance Taken from the Water Today for Overhauling; Resolute Undergoing Change

NEW YORK, June 16.—The next series of trial races to select the America's cup defender will see changes in the rigging of the American yacht.

The Vanitie and Defiance are now at City Island. The Defiance will be taken out of the water today for a general overhauling. When the next races are held, beginning June 23, the Defiance will be the only boat with a single head rig. She will also be without a bowsprit. The Resolute is at Bristol, L. I., where a complete change is being made on her rigging. Her mast has been changed from the forward to the after step, a longer bowsprit set up and she will have a double head rig.

It was persistently reported today that the Vanitie will have a new skipper when she sails her next trial race. It is said the amateur skipper plan will be adopted for the Alexander Cochran yacht. The Vanitie has been handled so far by Captain Bill Dennis.

The other day an amusing thing happened at the boarding house where I eat. One of the female boarders, who has an awful appetite, took two pieces of cake at once when the dish was passed to her. Then she flashed her most winning smile on the waiter and said: "I suppose I am a perfect pig?" He did not laugh. But he came back at her with the quiet answer: "None of us is perfect."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

THE CAPE AND THE RUSSIAN TUNIC TWO STRONG FASHION DETAILS OF THE MOMENT

A frock which is so near to being a suit that the difference can not be told except by the wearer, is shown in 8410. The waist is in bolero effect and the skirt is a two-piece model with a two-piece tunic and a plaited flounce section. A leaf green gabardine is used here with charming effect, relieved by the wide girdle, the tie and the plaited tunic flounce of a contrasting taffetas. This costume is suitable for street wear and is also appropriate for any afternoon function.

It may be copied in size 36, with 4 1/2 yards of 36-inch material or 4 yards of 42-inch material.

Gabardine averages 42 inches in width and is priced from about $1.50 a yard and up.
One of the most attractive of the new Russian tunics is shown in No. 8387; the blouse is in drop-shoulder style and the slim underskirt, appearing below the tunic, is a three-gored model. The tunic is fluted in slightly above the waist and flares at the bottom in the most approved way.

BREEDERS MEET AT WEST SALEM

Summer Meeting to Be Held Friday, Followed
by Big Sale Saturday

The summer meeting of the Western Guernsey Breeders' association is to be held at West Salem Friday of this week. Saturday the West Salem Guernsey men will hold a sale of registered cattle and some of the best stock in the world is to be sold at auction.

These Guernseys are one of the highest class lots ever offered at public sale. They consist of daughters of Raymond's Pearl King, Governor of the Ohene, Prince's Jewell, Robert's Boy and others. Besides the seventy-five head offered at public sale there will be offered at private sale high-class registered bulls of all ages and a few daughters of Holden 4th and Bob Rilma, the only son of May Rilma the champion butter cow of the world, having a record of 1,073 pounds of butter fat.

La Crosse county, through the efforts of the West Salem breeders, is fast becoming known as the prize Guernsey section of the country. H. W. Griswold, W. Nicholls, A. I. Stubbs, S. L. Dudley and C. D. Griswold are among the best known handlings this breed.

An interesting program has been prepared for the association meeting. Friday morning will be spent in the inspection of the many splendid herds of Guernseys located near West Salem. Automobile trips will be made to the farms of C. D. Griswold, Ray Lewis, Alfred Stubbs, H. W. Griswold and many others. Some of the great cows of the breed are to be found on these farms and they are well worth seeing.

At noon a picnic lunch will be served for all in a large tent on Mr. Stubbs' farm four blocks from the depot.

At 1 o'clock Charles L. Hill, formerly president of the American Guernsey Cattle club, will speak on "Wisconsin as a Guernsey State." Mr. Hill is one of the Guernsey breed's strong men.

At 2 o'clock William H. Caldwell, secretary of American Guernsey Cattle club will speak on the "Productive Capacity of Guernseys as seen in Public and Official Tests." Mr. Caldwell has for many years been secretary of the cattle club and knows the Guernsey thoroughly.

At 3 o'clock Professor C. P. Nord, Wisconsin's new superintendent of the Farmers' institutes, will speak on "Alfalfa and clover in relation to dairying." Professor Nord has made a life study of his subject and brings a message worth while.

There are few things that makes life worth living and home-made strawberry shortcake is one of them.

ILLINOIS ATHLETES SHOW GREAT FORM IN CONFERENCE MEET

Top, start of the 440-yard run; bottom, Captain Sanders of the Illinois team, who won second in this event.

University of Illinois' well balanced team, for the second year in succession, won the western conference championship at Chicago last Saturday. The Illinois athletes, led by Captain Sanders, overwhelmed their colleagues of the "Big Nine," but the Leland Stanford squad, though small in numbers, finished second and furnished a number of features.
Henderson of Illinois broke the conference record by winning the half mile in 1:55.3-5.

French Remedy for Stomach Troubles

The leading doctors of France have for years used a prescription of vegetable oils for chronic stomach trouble and constipation that acts like a charm. One dose will convince you. Severe cases of years' standing are often greatly benefited within 24 hours. So many people are getting surprising results that we feel all persons suffering from constipation, lower bowel, liver and stomach troubles should try Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy. It is now sold here by all druggists.

Home Wrinkle Recipe— Astonishing Results

Such startling, sensational results come from a very simple, harmless home-made wrinkle-remover, there's no excuse now
for anyone wearing those hateful marks of age, illness or worry. No need fooling with worthless pastes, creams, nor "skin food" which don't feed the skin. No need rubbing, massaging, steaming—senseless
methods which expand and loosen skin and underlying tissue, aggravating a wrinkled, flabby condition. Better, safer, surer, is the scientific salixite formula.
Thousands have seen fully tried it—
thousands freed of wrinkles, enlarged pores, saggy cheeks, double chin—thousands younger looking, happier!

All you need do is to dissolve one ounce of powdered salixite in one-half pint witch hazel, and bathe your face in this. The effect is almost magical. Even deepest crow's feet completely, quickly vanish.
Skin becomes firm, smooth, fresh looking—shows no trace of treatment except enhanced beauty. Get these inexpensive ingredients at your druggist's, try this marvelous salixite lotion today.

D. A. R. OUTING

Twenty four patriotic sisters, members of the Daughters of the American Revolution, boarded the Otto launch yesterday afternoon and went to Dresbach, Minn., for their annual Flag Day reunion. They spent the afternoon at the home of Charles Marsh and his sister, Miss Marsh.
The early afternoon was devoted to business meeting, after which the "daughters" devoted themselves to enjoying the beautiful Minnesota scenery, and calling upon some of their friends in the village. A delicious picnic supper was served on the lawn. The party reached home at nine o'clock. Those of the party were Mesdames George Burton, Mills

KRUMRIE-SCHROEDER WEDDING

A pretty wedding took place Saturday, June 13, at the German Evangelical church on South Ridge, when Miss Ella Krumrie became the bride of Mr. Charles Schroeder of Chaseburg, Wis. The bridal party marched down a rose and fern strewn path
to the altar as the wedding march was being played by Miss Ella Piler.
The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Roestie, the choir singing appropriate songs for the occasion. The bride wore a gown of white crepe
meteor with shadow lace and pearl trimming. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses. Little Helen Gross and Harold Schilling, niece and nephew of the groom, carried baskets of flowers. The bride was attended by Miss Lillian Thiel, her sister, and Miss Lillian Thiel, both wearing pale pink crepe de chine and carrying pink carnations. Adolph and John Krumrie acted as groomsmen. A bounteous wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride to a few relations and friends. Those from away were Lillian Thiel of Ipswich, S. D., Mrs. R. W. Schilling
and children of New Holstein, Wis., Mrs. Edwin Whiting of Kiel, Mr. and Mrs. Gross and Helen of La Crosse,
Mr. Schroeder, Amiel, Nellie, Marie and Florence Schroeder of Chaseburg, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Krumrie of Hokah, and Nellie Krumrie.

Mr. and Mrs. Schroeder will be at home after July 1 on a farm near Chaseburg. They will leave for Oxford, Neb., where they will spend their honeymoon.

HUBER-CORNELL WEDDING

Miss Katherine Huber, daughter of
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Huber of 616
Pine street, and Elmer B. Cornell of Dunsmuir, N. D., were married this morning at the Presbyterian parsonage, by the Rev. D. C. Jones. The bridal couple were attended by A. G.
Andrews and Miss Mary Huber. Mr.
and Mrs. Cornell left this morning for their home in Dunsmuir, where the bridegroom is assistant cashier in a bank.

PUPILS' RECITAL

Mrs. Mary Austin, assisted by Mrs.
R. C. Whelpley as soloist, and Miss Virginia Hill accompanist, gave a delightful pupils' recital Saturday evening at the home of Mr. David Drummond.
Mrs. Whelpley sang two numbers,
"Melody" and "In the Swamp,"
which were received with hearty en-cores. Those taking part in the program were Albert Hirschheimer, Edith and Hall Jorris, Esther Baumann, Jessie Egbert, Harriet Tub-besing, Bettie Dow, Virginia Baker,

The Home Beauty Parlor, By Betty Dean

B. A.: The quickest way to remove dust and oil from hair is by shampooing occasionally with a teaspoonful of canthrox (which, like all simple things I recommend, can be bought at any good drug store), dissolved in a cup hot water. This makes a thick, white lather that instantly stops irritation and dissolves every particle of dust, dandruff and excess
oil. Rinsing leaves scalp and hair wonderfully sweet and clean, the hair will dry quickly and evenly. I find canthrox shampoo is splendid for correcting the dull "stringy," brittle condition of the hair and inducing a luxuriant growth, which is brilliant and fluffy.

A. P.: Your weak, languid feeling is undoubtedly caused by impure blood, or a sluggish condition of the organs of elimination. In either case, a tonic and body-builder will prove effective in restoring full health and energy. A rare tonic is made by dissolving 1 ounce karden in ½ pint
alcohol (not whisky), then adding ½ cupful sugar and hot water to make a full quart. Take of this 1 tablespoonful 3 times each day. The karden tonic purifies the blood and restores health and strength. It is also splendid for ridding the skin of pimples, discolorations and saw-tooths.

Ada: I would remove those wrinkles and bring back the youthfulness
to my complexion by using the following greaseless cream-jelly: Into ½ pint cold water put 1 ounce almoz-
in and 2 tablespoonfuls glycerine.
Let stand over night. Apply this cream-jelly plentifully after cleaning and drying the skin. For wrinkles, put the cream thickly upon the creases. This stimulates in a way the stunted tissues of the creases and after a few treatments the furrows will have entirely vanished. For renewing the complexion a light, rotary movement should be employed, using plenty of the almozoin cream-jelly.
This will banish pimples, blackheads,
oiliness and other complexion upsets,
and leave the skin soft, clear and velvety.

Josie: You will always have a poor complexion as long as you use face powder. Make up this formula at home and your complexion troubles will be at an end. Into ½ pint witch hazel or hot water put 4 ounce

es spurmax and 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine. Apply sparingly and rub lightly until dry. This imparts a dainty tint and exquisite loveliness to the skin and is actually invisible when
on and seems part of the skin.
Neither wind nor perspiration
will affect the spurmax lotion and one application in the morning will last throughout the day.

Worried: You need not suffer
with over-fatness if this simple,
harmless treatment is used: Into 1 ½
pints hot water put 4 ounces pannotis. When it cools, strain, and take a tablespoonful before each meal.
This treatment gradually dissolves
fatty tissues and restores the symmetrical lines to the figure without leaving the flesh flabby or the skin wrinkled. When the weight is sufficiently reduced, the treatment can be discontinued.

Belle: I think singeing the hair is working at the wrong end, because the trouble is at the roots.
Make up at home and use this hair tonic: In ½ pint alcohol put 1
ounce quinzoin (get from druggist),
then add ½ pint water. Use this 2 or 3 times each week, massaging well into the scalp, and you will not be further troubled with brittle, falling hair. The quinzoin hair tonic is excellent for overcoming dandruff and excess oiliness and soon puts the scalp and hair-roots in a healthy condition.

Mrs. P. C.: You may not require glasses. Try this harmless eye tonic: In one pint clear water dissolve
an ounce crystals, then put 2 or 3 drops in the offending eye a few times
each day and keep up until soreness has entirely vanished. The crystals eye-tonic is valuable for tired, sore eyes or to relieve eye-strain and is excellent for inflamed or granulated lids. It also gives to dull, listless eyes a delightful sparkle and lustre.

M. L.: Here is an inexpensive home treatment for removing hair
from chin, lip or cheek. With water and powdered delatone mix enough
paste to cover the objectionable hairs.
Apply and in about two minutes remove, wash the skin and it will be free from hair or blemish. Be sure you get delatone.

When penalties enacted do not secure the desired results it is even better to try the removal of causes
rather than tear down the temple
of the peace and others whose duty it is to enforce the laws. This in addition to enforcing it themselves.

If a serious attempt of this kind
did not succeed in saving these lives
then perhaps we should make it unlawful to be found upon the highway with a dangerous weapon with dangerous explosives, or with speed producers.

PUBLIC DEBATE

The recent accidents and the consequent discussion concerning the enforcement of speed regulations
presents a subject for consideration which is well worth the study of all the people to the end that the community may again become a safe place in which to reside.

There is not much relief to be expected from the passage of more stringent laws with still greater penalty inflictions, because we have the law already.

The question naturally arises:
When people fail to secure safety
from the passage of laws, what should they do, take the law into their own hands?

The answer is decidedly NO. Because we fail to secure the desired results by the enactment of one kind of legislation we should by no means fly to the extreme of MOB RULE.
We should try other methods of

FARMER TAKES ADVICE NOW HAS A JUNE BRIDE

"To be a successful farmer, a man must be married," declared Dean Otis, of Wisconsin university in addressing the "Top Notch" farmers of the state at West Salem a few weeks ago.

Adolph G. Von der Ohe, one of the most successful farmers at Salem and joint owner of one of the best herds of Jersey cows in the state, was in the crowd.

News has been received at West Salem to the effect that Von der Ohe is married.

Miss Clara Gade, of Reedsburg, is the bride. The wedding occurred last week, and they are at their home on the Maple Shade Jersey farm now. The wedding took place at the home of the bride.

Mr. Von der Ohe is among the most prominent farmers of the state, and although a young man, has made a great success of the work. "More yield per acre than any other farm in Wisconsin" is his aim, and figures from over the state show that he has nearly reached his ambition.

Mrs. Von der Ohe, and her daughters, mother and sisters of the groom, will move into West Salem.

UNDUE INFLUENCE CHARGE IN COURT

Woman Alleged to Have Left Her Property to Man Who Is Not Her
Relative

ATTEMPT TO BRICK THURLOW WILL

Examination Started Today
in the County Court
by Judge Brindley;
Nurse Called

Undue influence is the charge made by Robert Westphal, who is attempting to break the will of his aunt, Miss Johanna Thurlow.

Miss Thurlow, who died in La Crosse March 18 of this year, made a will and left all her estate, valued at about $3,000 to Julius Thurlow, said to have been her nephew.

Makes Will; Then Dies

The will was made under unusual circumstances. The woman, who was well along in years, was in the isolation annex of a La Crosse hospital. She was suffering with a contagious disease. Her will was made one afternoon and in less than ten hours she had died.

There were three sisters, and all died within a few weeks of each other. They came to La Crosse a year ago from a farm in Vernon county.

Nurse Tells Story

Miss Lena L. Coulam, a nurse, was the only witness examined this morning. She told of her care of the patient, how the will was made and Miss Thurlow's general condition at the time. In his petition to have the will broken Westphal alleges that Julius Thurlow is no relative of the deceased woman, and that he is the sole relative and only heir at law.

Testimony in the case will continue for several days. The physician in charge is now in Arcadia and it will be necessary for him to offer his testimony.

Launch; Many Attend

Tomorrow morning at 7 o'clock, fifty or more boy scouts and juniors of the Y. M. C. A. will leave in the full launch of Otto Kutzke for Trempealeau bay, where they will camp for ten days.

C. R. Bearmore, director of boys' work at the Y. M. C. A., James Peterson and Jack Brindley left Monday for the site of the camp to prepare for the advent of the forces tomorrow. Mr. Bearmore will return to La Crosse this evening to take the youngsters to the camp tomorrow.

At the camp Mr. Bearmore and Prof. Harry Spence will have charge of the boys.

No pains have been spared in preparation for the camp. Extra equipment has been procured to accommodate the large number of boys who expect to camp.

June 24 will be "Scout day" at the camp. A field meet is scheduled for the afternoon, to be followed by a monster campfire after dark. The fife and drum corps of the scouts will provide music for the day.

MEN NEAR DEATH

RACINE, Wis., June 16.—Several deck hands narrowly escaped death at 7:30 this morning when a large steel self-unloading boom on the coaler Alpena collapsed and fell to the deck with a crash. It came within six inches of hitting one man.

NINE BODIES ARE RECOVERED

Man and Woman in Taxi Engulfed and Crushed
when Street Corner
Gives Way

PARIS, June 16.—Belief that the death list in a storm which swept Paris yesterday would reach nearly a score was expressed today when workmen began digging in the debris of several streets, sunk in by the terrific deluge of rain.

Four are known to have perished. The bodies of a man and a woman were recovered, crushed, from a hole fifteen by thirty feet, where the Rue Trochet, Rue Auber and Boulevard Haussmann intersect. The street sank under the washing out of overtaxed sewers. A man and a woman in a taxicab were engulfed and crushed to death.

A number of families reported some missing today, and search of the debris was started.

A big section of roadway on the Place Saint Philippe du Roule, at the intersection of Rue La Boetie and the Rue du Faubourg Saint Honore, also sank. Much of Paris was dark last night.

A dozen persons under the eaves of the church of St. Philippe du Roule were drawn into the cave-in and a number are believed to have perished. Spectators say a woman and three children were buried alive. At Choisy Le Roi, a suburb, at least two are dead from lightning and a number of others were reported injured in the collapse of a part of the roadway.

Suburban cities around here all reported great damage by the storm. It was believed there might be loss of life at several places by lightning.

Nine bodies had been recovered up to late this afternoon. A number of persons are unaccounted for. The flooding of the sewers and conduits is believed to have formed underground passages of considerable magnitude in several sections of the city and fears are felt for more cave-ins.

NAME FACULTY OF SUMMER SCHOOL

Most of Teachers of the Faculty and Principal B.
E. McCormick of Local High Will Serve

Faculty members for the summer session of the normal school will be most of the teachers of the regular faculty with the addition of Principal B. E. McCormick of the local high school, and Miss Barbara Knothe. Prof. E. D. Long, vice president of the institution, will act as principal of the summer school.

All parents who desire to have their children attend the grade model school during the summer months are requested to have them call at the school on Monday morning, June 26. There will be no charge made for attendance at the grade summer session.

The faculty for the summer session is as follows:
President F. A. Cotton, Mr. E. D. Long, Mr. W. H. Sanders, Mr. F. W. Week, Miss A. M. Angell, Mr. D. O. Coate, Mr. B. A. Stickle, Mr. J. R. Fairchild, Mr. A. J. Lewis, Mr. J. R. Moore, Mr. H. E. CHICAGO, June 16.—First returns in the referendum vote being taken among the 75,000 employees of railroads west of Chicago, show 90 per cent of those who balloted in favor of calling a strike unless their demands for increased wages are granted, officers of the trainmen's organization said this afternoon. The result of the vote probably will be announced on Saturday. Representatives of the employees will then ask a joint conference with the railroad managers' committee.

PLAYERS GET WET

MADISON, Wis., June 16.—Walter Bauman and Charles Chellford, right fielder and second baseman, respectively, of the Green Bay club of the Wisconsin-Illinois league, were thrown into the water when their boat capsized in Lake Mendota this morning. They held on to the boat until help came.

NEXT BIENNIAL GOES TO GOTHAM

No Opposition to New York
Demand for 1916 Meeting of the Club-
women

MRS. PENNYBACKER NOT OPPOSED

Balloting Is on Today for Officers of Federation
for Next Two Years

CHICAGO, June 16.—New York will be the 1916 hostess of the general federation of women's clubs.

There is apparently no opposition to Gotham's claims among delegates to the biennial here. New York is supported by pledges of financial backing, promise of reasonable rates from the hotel keepers and promises of entertainment from Sorosis, "mother of women's clubs."

Balloting for officers for the next two years began at 8 a. m. today when the ballot boxes were placed in the Congress hotel. The slate picked yesterday by the nominating committee, with Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, of Texas, the nominee for re-election to the presidency, will go through without opposition.

An effort to obtain the federation's endorsement of the prohibition movement will be made at the 1916 biennial, it was learned today. An anti-alcohol crusade has been urged upon the federation by more than one speaker this week.

Miss Margaret Wilson, daughter of the president, arrived today and will address the biennial tomorrow night. Miss Wilson's efforts to baffle a bevy of photographers at the Union station by lowering her head amused a crowd that gathered for a peep at a president's daughter.

Miss Wilson sings Edward Markham's hymn, "Brotherhood," the General Federation of Women's clubs this afternoon brought to a close one of the most notable conferences of the biennial.

Every address made today was a plea for social justice or a presentation of some social injustice. Miss Agnes Nestor, until recently a worker in a glove factory, and now president of Chicago's Trade Union league, told the clubwomen "what seven million working women expect of one million club women."

The convention adopted a resolution today asking the federal children's bureau to send leaflets to mothers containing instructions in sex hygiene. Other resolutions adopted approved the abatement and injunction law against houses of prostitution and dress reform.

Y. W. C. A. OPEN HOUSE

WILL BE THROWN OPEN TO GUESTS OF CITY DURING HOMECOMING WEEK, IS ANNOUNCEMENT

The La Crosse Young Women's Christian association will keep "open house" at the association building, Fourth and Cass streets, during homecoming week.

Following a meeting last night of the committee in charge of activities during the week, of which Miss Bertha Shuman is chairman, the following were named as chairmen of the various committees which will assist in the work:

Advertising—Mrs. Robert McDonald.

Rest Room—Mrs. A. P. Hankerson.

Supper—Mrs. A. Chubb.

Decoration—Miss Florence Shuman.

Entertainment—Miss Alma Ruden. A public supper on Wednesday evening and an entertainment Thursday are two of the features being planned for the homecoming week, besides which rest rooms and other facilities will be at the disposal of the public. It is expected that many former members of the association attending the homecoming will visit the association during their stay in the city. Meals will be served.

PAYS ANOTHER'S TAXES

RACINE, Wis., June 16.—Hubert VanBree paid the taxes for two years on another man's property thinking that it was his own, and also paid a $227.60 sewer assessment levied against the property. He discovered his error a week ago, and is now seeking redress from the city.

RUMOR THAW IS PLANNING FLIGHT FROM COUNTRY

NEW YORK, June 16.—Fearing that Harry K. Thaw might try to escape from the country, New York state officials today took steps to provide a secret guard for him at Gorham, N. H. Following the action of the supreme court in refusing Thaw's appeal for bail and permission to visit Pittsburgh, Thaw has been in telephonic communication with friends here. One report is that a dash for the coast and a trip on board a yacht to France is planned.

REGULAR STALWART CRY SAYS MORRIS

Philipp Denial of Concerted Attack on Progressive Laws Answered by Tom

QUOTES BOB'S AUTOBIOGRAPHY

Recounts Stalwart Action
on Railroad Tax
and Primary Laws

When shown a Platteville, Wis., interview in which Emmanuel Philipp hotly denied a statement by him that the stalwarts, always opposed to reformatory laws along tax, pure food and labor lines, were back of the present attack on progressive measures and institutions in Wisconsin, Lieutenant-Governor Tom Morris said:

Mr. Philipp's bitter complaint against my recent statement that the fulminations of a few men against progressive laws and institutions in this state is but the biennial stalwart outbreak arrived on schedule time, and is an example of the heat with which he and his associates always indignantly admit they are stalwarts.

Mr. Philipp says:

"No one can point to any concerted (mark the word 'concerted') action of conservative republicans against pure food laws, tax legislation or labor legislation."

"I now have the pleasure of providing Mr. Philipp (he will be surprised and shocked, I am sure) with evidence of:

(1) "Concerted stalwart action against tax legislation."

(2) "Concerted stalwart action against labor legislation."

In the matter of "concerted stalwart action against tax legislation," I call Mr. Philipp's attention to pages 248-249 of Senator LaFollette's Autobiography. There the Senator says:

"One night, after the legislature had been in session about two months, Emmanuel Philipp came to my office. He moved his chair up close to mine."

"Now, look here," he said, "you want to pass the primary election bill, don't you? I will help you put it through."

"Philipp," I said, "there is no use in you and me trying to mislead each other. I understand and you understand that the senate is organized against both the direct primary and taxation bills. You know that better than I do."

"Well," he said, "now look here. This railroad taxation matter—wouldn't you be willing to let that go if you could get your primary bill through? What good will it do you, anyhow, to increase railroad taxation? We can meet that all right just by raising rates or by changing a classification here and there. No one will know it and we can take back every cent of increased taxes in rates from the people."

"Philipp," I said, "you have just driven in and clinched the argument for regulating your rates. And that is the next thing we are going to do. No," I said, "these pledges are straight promises."

"But," he argued, "if you can get this primary election bill through you will have done a great thing. And I will pass it for you, if you will let up on railroad taxation."

"Just how will you pass it?" I asked.

"How will I pass it?" he repeated. "How will I pass it? Why, I'll take those fellows over to a room in the Park Hotel, close the door and stand them up against the wall. And I'll say to them, you vote for the primary election bill. And they'll vote for it, because I own them, they're mine!" And this was Philipp's last interview with me."

Had Mr. Philipp "stood the stalwart legislators up against the wall" and ordered them to vote in a body for the primary law, it would have been "concerted stalwart action." As he did not, and as they voted solidly against both the primary and the railroad taxation law, it may be presumed that Mr. Philipp did "stand them up against the wall," which accounts for the "concerted stalwart action against tax legislation."

Against Labor Legislation
As to labor legislation, during the last session of the legislature there was pending a bill to give the laboring people of the state one day's rest in seven. It was of particular concern to railroad men, shop workers and others not yet freed from the slavery of continuous occupation. The bill was defeated in the senate. The rail call shows it was beaten by a combination of stalwart republicans, stalwart democrats and the McGovern forces in the senate.

Against Pure Food Legislation
Regarding stalwart opposition to pure food laws, Mr. Philipp says that "four years ago a man from the east" called at his "office," "representing himself to be the advertising agent of the Corn Products company, which is a Standard Oil product." That the man informed Mr. Philipp that he wanted "to amend the pure food law in the interest of corn syrup."

Mr. Philipp says that, "he wanted to know whom he ought to get to assist him without inquiring into the details of his project." Mr. Philipp says he "advised him to see that he met the man on the street a few days later and he said that he had made satisfactory arrangements."

Mr. Philipp's denial of stalwart opposition to the pure food laws seems to be a negative hint that he and the stalwarts favored those laws. Why, then, Mr. Philipp, did the corn syrup people come straight to you when they wanted that particular pure food law knocked out?

No doubt it was as a "friend" of

REV. PATMONT IS AGAIN, ABDUCTED

"Dry" Lecturer Recently
Kidnaped in Illinois Disappears in Detroit

FIND SIGNS OF FIERCE BATTLE

Trampled Grass and Battered Derby Tell of Fight with His Assailants

DETROIT, Mich., June 16.—With police and scores of private detectives searching Detroit and vicinity for some trace of the Rev. Louis R. Patmont, anti-liquor worker of Westville, Ill., who was abducted at Westville on March 21, and held prisoner in a lonely farm house for two months before the searchers released him, friends of the "dry" worker believed today that he had again been kidnaped or killed.

Disappears Last Night
The second mysterious disappearance of Rev. Patmont was reported to the police late last night after the preacher had failed to appear at the Plum Street Church of Christ, where he was to confer with church leaders.

Rev. Patmont has either been kidnaped or murdered by representatives of the Illinois saloon interests, declared the Rev. Claude F. Witte, pastor of the Plum street church, after an all night search had failed to uncover any trace of the missing preacher.

To Identify Suspect
The Illinois "dry" worker has been living in this city for the last two weeks. He was last seen early today for St. Louis to attempt to identify a man alleged to have been in on his abduction. A man giving the name of J. Lloyd and representing himself to be a Chicago newspaper man, last week attempted to have Patmont drop the abduction case. Rev. Witte said today that Patmont had been constantly shadowed while in Detroit.

From Mrs. Patmont, who today was nearly prostrated by her husband's disappearance, police obtained detailed descriptions of the men she said had trailed her husband since he arrived in Detroit.

Find Signs of Battle
A battered derby hat bearing the initials "R. J. H." was found early today near the spot where Rev. Patmont was last seen.

Grass and weeds in the vicinity had been trampled down and there was evidence of a fierce struggle. Detectives believe that the hat was the property of one of the preacher's.

LONG SHOT WINS
ASCOT MEETING

Horse Priced 25 to 1 Is
First and Other Two in Money Also Are at Long Odds

ASCOT, Eng., June 16.—J. De Rothschild's Broadwood won the Ascot stakes here today. H. Brushwood's Asparagus was second and H. C. Rallan's The Guller, third. Twenty-four horses ran.

The betting against Broadwood was 25 to 1. The same odds ruled against Asparagus, while The Guller, which ran third, was a 1 to 1 shot.

Every possible precaution was taken to guard King George and Queen Mary from suffragette disturbers when they attended the race. More than 1,000 of the metropolitan police and hundreds of detectives reinforced the regular Berkshire police on the course and the six miles from Windsor Castle to the race track was lined with constables.

No disturbance by the "wild women" marred the meet.

AFTER LABOR FRAUDS

SECRETARY OF LABOR WILSON
THREATENS PROSECUTION OF MEN WHO DECEIVE
FOREIGN WORKERS

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Prosecution of men who conduct employment agencies, and who practice fraud upon men in search of crop harvest work was threatened today by Secretary of Labor Wilson.

"It has come to my knowledge," said Wilson, "that workmen are being charged from $1 to $2 apiece for the information which this department has gathered and is sending broadcast without price. Many of these men are foreigners who are unacquainted with our language."

"In some places—I have Gary, Ind., in mind now—these men are not only charged for the information, but the person doing so, agrees, in the most friendly manner, of course, to purchase railroad tickets also. I am informed that over charges for transportation are made."

The pure food law that you sent the corn syrup representative to men you thought would have the law killed. You sent him to a denatured "progressive" law firm to get that firm to lobby with the progressive members of the legislature. They lobbied. But I refer you to the progressive republican vote as recorded in the assembly journal, Mr. Philipp, for evidence that they lobbied in vain.

By the way, Mr. Philipp, was it a fellow feeling growing out of that "triple alliance" against the "one day's rest in seven" bill which caused you to withhold the name of the "progressive" law firm?

CRISIS AT BUTTE DUE WEDNESDAY

Succeeding Miners to Meet to Discuss Independent
Union; Riots
Feared

MAY ASK FOR FEDERAL TROOPS

Governor Has Asked Senator to Sound Wilson as to His Attitude Toward Sending Soldiers

BUTTE, Mont., June 16.—A crisis in the situation resulting from dissension in the ranks of the Western Federation of Miners' organization here is expected tomorrow night. At that time, miners who seceded from the Federation will meet to determine whether to organize a local independent of the Federation. Trouble is feared if the seceders are again aroused.

Governor Stewart is known to have asked Senator Walsh, in Washington, to ascertain whether the president would send troops if desired.

Chief of Police Murphy and Sheriff Chisroll expressed the opinion today that there was no immediate danger of trouble. The saloons have been allowed to re-open.

John C. Lowney, member of the Western Federation executive committee, today called a meeting of the Federation for tonight. He said the meeting would not recognize the seceders. This is taken to mean the union will insist upon the mine owners carrying out their contracts to men only holding Western Federation cards.

Not to Ask at Once.
WASHINGTON, June 16.—President Wilson will not be asked to send federal troops to Montana for the present. Senator Myers and Representatives Evans and Stout, of Montana, made this statement at the White house. They will, however, ask the president to hold regular troops in readiness.

STAND-PATS CLAIM WOODMEN CONTROL

Head Camp Officers Assert
They Will Defeat the Insurgents at Toledo

TOLEDO, Ohio, June 16.—Despite prospective insurgent activities and a threatened rump convention, administration forces of the Modern Woodmen of America claimed complete control just before the annual convention was called to order here today.

Administration leaders announced that a poll of the 259 delegates present shows that A. R. Talbot of Lincoln, Neb., as head consul will be elected as will James McNamara, of Rock Island, Ill., head clerk, and John Goltz, Indianapolis, head banker. The present board of directors was also endorsed, it was stated.

The insurgent element today caucused in secret and plans for the attack on the administration were in the dark. The opening battle was expected to begin on the floor late this afternoon, following the report of the credentials committee.

The first demonstration of the inharmonious relations broke forth this afternoon with the formal opening here.

During the address of Head Consul A. R. Talbot, who responded to an address of welcome, he said:

"Let justice prevail; let fairness dominate this convention."

The insurgent element in the Illinois, Iowa and Nebraska delegations arose as a body with shouts of "We have never had it," "How about the credentials committee?" and other interrogations.

Talbot resumed:

"I want to say that every properly accredited Woodman will be recognized on this floor. There will be no tricks tried nor any short cutners attempted. We shall be able to settle all our difficulties within the boundary of Woodcraft, I assure you."

At the closing session of the National Association of Camp Clerks the following were elected members of the executive committee:

A. H. Mann, Kansas City; A. H. Hooper, St. Paul; E. T. Geist, Joliet, Ill.; O. F. Busch, Perry, Okla.; E. A. Miller, Harrisburg, Pa.; J. R. Corken, Rock Island, Ill.; J. W. Rodman, Camden, N. J.; W. C. Wins, Zanesville, O.; W. O. Dunlavy, Indianapolis; O. W. Oldhausen, San Francisco; Frank Oldhausen, Leavenworth, Kans.; R. H. George, Lincoln, Neb.

In the competitive drills at Camp R. R. Smith, the Peoria (Ill.) team, camp 812, scored the highest points, with the Decatur, (Ill.) team, camp 1626, second in both of the senior contests. In the junior contest the Akron, (Ohio) team scored first and the Fargo, (N. D.) team, second in the first drill, and the Canton, (Ill.) team first and the South Omaha, (Neb.) team second in the second drill.

In the intermediate contest the Clinton, (Ill.) and Portsmouth, (Ohio) teams scored first and second respectively in both drills.

The spectacular feature of the week's program at Camp R. R. Smith will be the grand review of the foresters by Head Consul Talbot and eight United States army officers tomorrow afternoon. The review will include 5 drill teams, 12 bands and drum corps totalling 5,000 uniformed Woodmen.

A feller who has a taste for life and drum music is certainly a music lover from the first water.

FORGET CHURCHES TO HARVEST CROP

Southwest Leaves Edifices Empty to Get Bumper Wheat Yield Under Cover

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 16.—Churches in the wheat belt of Kansas, Oklahoma, and Missouri were all but deserted Sunday while binders were busy in hundreds of fields. Wheat is ripening rapidly and weather threatening. Harvest hands at Abilene who refused to work for $2.50 a day were driven out of the town by the mayor. Elevator men are giving notice that a price will be set on wheat this year according to grade when it is received at the elevator, instead of permitting farmers to store it and place a price later when the growers decide to sell, which has been the case for years. This is necessary, it is claimed, on account of lack of elevator capacity to handle the enormous crop.

DALLAS, Tex., June 16.—Sixty percent better than the best crops in any year was the condition today of the bumper wheat crop being harvested in west Texas. Oats are reported to be in fine condition with the harvest under way and yielding from 35 to 70 bushel per acre.

Acute Articular Rheumatism

The exact cause of rheumatism is unknown, though it is generally believed to be due to an excess of uric acid in the blood. It may be also said with equal truth that it is a disease of the blood. In fact the literature of rheumatism shows that there are but few drugs which have not been given a trial. In the hands of one observer we find that a certain remedy has been used with the utmost satisfaction; others have found the same remedy to be a great disappointment. All physicians however agree that every method of treatment is aided by the administration of the nervous system and Dr. W. S. Schulze expresses the opinion of thousands of practitioners when he says that Anti-Kamnia Tablets should be given preference over all other remedies for the relief of the pain in all forms of rheumatism. These tablets can be purchased in any quantity. They are also unsurpassed in headaches, neuralgias and all pain. Ask for A-K Tablets. P. S. For Eczema and Skin Diseases, use A-K Salve.

U. S. GETS INTO LORIMER MIX-UP

His Banks Warned that Bankruptcy Funds They Hold Must Be Considered as Prior Lien

CHICAGO, June 16.—Federal officers today took a hand in the closing last Friday and Saturday of the six Lorimer banks. Assistant United States District Attorney Fleming notified the directors of the La Salle Street Trust and Savings bank, of which William Lorimer is president, that bankruptcy funds the bank held in trust must be considered a prior lien.

Fleming warned the bank officials that if they disregarded his notice, and the federal court assumed the same attitude, that every official would be cited for contempt if the bankruptcy funds were not accounted for.

MARINE, Ill., June 16.—The Bank of Marine, a correspondent of the La Salle Street bank, Chicago, failed to open its doors today following a run Saturday. This notice was posted: "In order to quiet rumors that the Bank of Marine is in financial straits, the officers of the bank have called for a special examination of its affairs. In the meantime a reorganization will be effected and the stock owned by C. B. Munday will be placed with local people. When this is done the bank will again be opened for business."

For Your Plants.
Instead of buying expensive jardiniere for your potted plants, simply paint the ordinary flower pots and saucers with a flat oil paint in a color to harmonize with the color scheme of the room they are in. Flower pots painted a green-blue or a Chinese blue are wonderfully quaint and decorative.

FRECKLES

Now is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as the prescription ointment—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots.

Simply get an ounce of ointment—double strength—from O. T. Erhart and apply a little of it at night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than an ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength ointment as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

LARGE PEARL FOUND BY M'GREGOR MAN

Arthur Gillet Opens Clam and Finds Stone Worth $700; William Walter Is Married

M'GREGOR, Iowa, June 16.—A thirty-five grain white pearl of beautiful lustre was found by Arthur Gillet while clamming near Pictured Rocks Sunday afternoon. Mr. Gillet is employed as a teamster for the electric light company and only claims on Sundays or occasionally when given a day off from work. The pearl is valued at $700. Though there are more clambers on the river in this vicinity than there have been for several years this is the first pearl of great value which has been found this summer.

Feith-Walter
The marriage of William Walter to Mrs. M. E. Feith of Cairo, Ill., at Cairo June 5th, has been announced. The wedding was a surprise to most of Mr. Walter's friends. He had been visiting at home in McGregor until two days before his marriage and had made no announcement of the approaching ceremony except to his immediate family. Mrs. Feith is a prominent business woman of Cairo. Mr. Walter is the youngest son of the Peter Walter family, one of the oldest and best known families in McGregor. He is a musician of note, having been for a number of years a leading member of the A. G. Fields' Minstrel company. Mr. and Mrs. Walter will be at home in Cairo for the summer after a short honeymoon trip to St. Louis and Elkhart, Ind.

Observe the Day
Children's Day was observed in both the Congregational and Methodist churches Sunday with programs of special music and songs and recitations by pupils of the Sunday schools. Miss Grace Campbell, a DuBuque violinist, assisted at the Congregational church at both morning and evening services.

Fourth Celebration
Elaborate preparations are being made for a Fourth of July celebration at the fair grounds at Elkader. Martin Geske, McGregor attorney, will be the speaker of the day. The McGregor band will furnish the music and a ball game will be played in the afternoon between the McGregor and Elkader teams.

To Serve Supper
Wednesday the ladies of the Industrial society will serve a supper on the lawn at Buell park. Ice cream and cake will be served all afternoon and evening in addition to the supper which will be given cafeteria style from 5 o'clock until all are served.

Doran House Sold
The property known as the Pat Doran property on upper Main street has been purchased by Fred Bell. It is expected that Mr. Bell will either remodel the residence which is now on the lot or put up a modern cottage in its place.

Home From School
William Riley, a Junior in the law school of the state university, arrived home Wednesday. His father is in a critical condition at the hospital in McGregor as a result of an injury received a week ago in a runaway accident.

Personal
Mrs. Henry Reeves has been in Chicago the past week attending the meetings of the biennial convention of the Federation of Women's clubs.

Mrs. C. W. Cowles and niece and nephew, Helen and Charlie Hunting, all of Minneapolis, are the guests of relatives and friends.

Mrs. Luthe and Miss Emma Luthe have arrived from Des Moines and opened up their house for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Brennan were present at the commencement exercises of the Iowa state college, their son Will being among the graduates. From Ames Mrs. Brennan went to Vermillion, South Dakota, where another son, Louis, will receive his A. B. degree.

C. H. Thomas of Traer, Iowa, accompanied by his two sons, has been the guest of his brother, Dr. W. A. Thomas, this week.

U. S. TO OPERATE STREET CAR LINE?

WASHINGTON, June 16.—"Government ownership will spread like dew throughout the United States if the District of Columbia takes over and operates its street car lines," declared Representative Crosser, of Ohio, today.

Crosser who is author of a bill now before the house providing for the condemnation of the 108 miles of tracks and all the car property in the district, said today he firmly believed the bill would pass both the house and senate.

It is proposed in the bill to pay the two corporations owning the street car lines $50,000,000 for this property.

A Single Application Will Banish Hairs
(Beauty Culture)
Here is an unfailing way to rid the skin of objectionable hair or fuzz. With some powdered delatone and water mix enough paste to cover the hairs not wanted, apply and after two or three minutes rub off and every hair will have vanished. The skin should then be washed to remove the rest of the delatone. No injury can result from this treatment, but be careful to get real delatone.

United States Fruits Abroad.
Europe is the principal customer for all exported fruits from this country except oranges, lemons and raisins. Germany takes about one-half of the dried apples and the United Kingdom a like proportion of the green apples exported. Nearly one-half of the apricots went last year to France, Germany and the Netherlands, while the United Kingdom alone took one-third of the total.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD BY HAL SHERIDAN

Selzer was squirted on the Giants' pennant raising ceremonies yesterday by the ill-mannered Pirates, who licked Marquard.

Three Thousand Hit Wagner didn't hit.

The Cubs stamped veteran Otto Hess and beat the Braves by scoring six runs in the third.

Leach and Good of the Cubs each rapped out a single, double and triple.

The Mackmen took another fling at Comiskey's alleged-to-be superlative pitching corps, emerging with 15 hits.

Joe Jackson, out of it with a game knee, was pinch hitter for the Naps in the ninth, his double and Turner's triple following, beating the Senators. Baker binged safely three times and every other Mackite got at least one hit.

The Tigers are in second place today because Boehler, though wild himself, tamed Chance's Yanks.

"Smoky Joe" Wood looked like the best bet in the comeback line. He held the Browns to three scattered hits.

Mike Doolan of the Baltimore Federals got a big hand at Chicago when he caught a foul that was about to crush Mrs. Doolan's bonnet.

Russell Ford of the Buffalo Feds, won an eleven inning battle from Otis Crandall of the St. Louis Feds.

The Federal league leaders attracted 2,500 to the Chicago Fed park while the Athletics were drawing 5,500 at the White Sox amphitheater.

NATIONAL LEAGUE
Pittsburgh 3, New York 2
NEW YORK, June 16.—The New York Nationals raised the 1913 pennant on Monday but could not celebrate the event with a victory as Pittsburgh took the first game of the series 3 to 2.

The game was a pitchers' battle between Adams and Marquard, Pittsburgh scoring their winning run in the eighth inning on Mowrey's single, Kelly's sacrifice, Fletcher's fumble, on Wagner and Ketcher's sacrifice fly. New York scored two runs in the first inning when Kelly misjudged a hit from Robertson, a New York youngster and it went for a three base hit. A muff by Descher enabled Pittsburgh to tie up in the fifth.

A band concert and an amateur performance of about 3,000 amateur players preceded the raising of the pennant. Score: R H E

Odds Against American Team; Captain Waterbury of Yankee Team Hopeful of Win

BY FRED J. WILSON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, June 16.—Confident that American fighting ability had a good chance to win against English dogged pluck and skill, thousands of New Yorkers started early today to see the second, and, possibly, final battle of this year for the international polo trophy here. With the handicap of an initial defeat against them, and the betting odds at three to one, the American team, reconstructed, was still confident that hard fighting might win the day.

Monte Waterbury, the Yankee captain, promised that the thousands would see a battle to the last pony dash and the last stroke.

Despite rain during the night it was believed almost certain before noon that the second battle of the series would be staged today.

The teams today were placed as follows:

America—Rene La Montagne, No. 1; J. M. Waterbury, No. 2; L. Waterbury, No. 3; Devereaux Milburn, No. 4 (back.)

England—Capt. Tomkinson, No. 1; Capt. Cheape, No. 2; Major Barrett, No. 3; Capt. Lockett, No. 4 (back.)

The cool temperature and a bracing breeze were expected to be a great aid to the British. Their ponies in the first game were noticeably helped by the cool air and today the heat promised to be even more moderate.

All the players on both teams were out soon after sun-up cantering over the secondary fields to limber up their mounts and put themselves in readiness for the fray. The condition of all was said to be perfect.

Capt. Cheape's damage eye was entirely recovered. Devereaux Milburn's sore ribs no longer pain.

MAY SEIZE WATER PLANT
DENVER, Colo., June 16.—The city commissioners of Denver may seize the plant of the Denver Sewer Water company, acting under their police power, should the company be unable to fulfill its promise to have its system in satisfactory working condition by tomorrow.

The bursting Saturday night of two big conduits supplying Denver with water, caused a water famine. Commissioners today said the indications were that the conduits would not be repaired in time.

SHAMROCK IN DOCK
LONDON, June 16.—Shamrock IV, Sir Thomas Lipton's latest challenger for the international cup, will remain in dock for three days, it was announced today. Her keel will be reduced and the vessel "trimmed up" generally. On Saturday the new challenger will have her next formal try-out against Shamrock III.

Daily Thought.
As the flowers carry dewdrops, trembling on the edge of the petals, and ready to fall at the first waft of wind or brush of wing of bird, so the heart should carry its beaded words of thanksgiving, and at the first breath of heavenly favor let down the shower perfumed with the heart's gratitude.—Beecher.

DRUG FIRM CONVENTION
KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 16.—More than 1,200 delegates were present at Convention hall this morning when the main convention of the United Drug company opened its first session.

MARSANS STUNT TO BE POPULAR

President Gilmore of Feds Intimates More Jumps Before End of the Season

CHICAGO, June 16.—"Doing a Marsans"—in other words emulating the example of the Cincinnati Reds' outfielder who took advantage of the ten day clause in his contract and skipped to the St. Louis Feds—will be a popular stunt in major league circles before the season is over, President Gilmore of the Federal league hinted today.

Gilmore was extremely reticent today in discussing the report that in addition to Hal Chase of the Chicago White Sox, and Pitcher Dave Davenport of the Cincinnati Reds, three other Cincinnati players, Pitchers Benton and Ames and Catcher Clarke, would jump to the Feds.

After first admitting that he intends to sign with the Buffalo Feds and later declaring that he will stick with the White Sox for the rest of the season and then go into business in Philadelphia, Chase refused to talkbaseball at all today. Secretary Kelley of the Buffeds insisted today that Chase will sign.

SUBSTITUTE SCORES KNOCKOUT
NEW YORK, June 16.—George Rodel, Boer heavyweight, is recognized here today as a "regular guy" in the role of a substitute, and may be in great demand by champions who are anxious not to risk their title. He substituted for Jim Kruger, western heavy, at the Olympic A. C., and stopped Sailor White in the sixth of a scheduled ten round bout. White was dropped with a thud in the third and came to his knees in time to be saved by the bell. A left, then a right to the jaw in the opening of the sixth finished Rodel's substitute—also finished White.

TO GIVE DECISION
MADISON, Wis., June 16.—When the supreme court meets tomorrow, one of the notable actions to come before it will be the return to the alternative writ of mandamus issued by the court last week upon application of Frank Pierce of Menomonie, to determine whether the board of trustees of the Stout schools shall go ahead with the erection of the new administration building. The trustees held a meeting here last Saturday, but declined to make public the conclusions reached.

"YOUNG" AHERN LICKS BURNS
LONDON, June 16.—America broke even in the fight game here last night. "Young" Ahern, Brooklyn fighter, knocked out Sid Burns, English welterweight, in the second round, and Harry Stone, another American, lost on points to Jerry Delaney, in a 20 round bout.

FOREIGN MARKETS

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, June 16.—Predictions of a bear raid dropped prices at the opening of the stock market today, traders selling to a considerable extent. There was more activity than for days.

In Steel, Reading and Union Pacific initial declines were confined to 1/2 and there was good, though not aggressive buying.

Noon—The promised raid materialized in the second hour and the market declined rather sharply. One of the current rumors purporting to account for the decline was that radicals in the senate will oppose strenuously the confirmation of certain members of the federal reserve board.

The stock market closed quiet.

MISS BECKINGTON ONE OF PIONEERS

Artist Recently Guest in La Crosse Member of Group of Brilliant Miniaturists

Friends of Miss Alice Beckington, who left La Crosse Saturday after visiting Miss Gertrude Hogan, will be interested in the following article concerning her work, prepared by the American Press Association:

The woman who succeeds greatly does so by striking out a new way for herself. Whether one paints pictures or designs gowns this holds true. Possibly it may be rather more difficult to achieve originality in painting than in other work. At any rate, America can point with pride to a small group of brilliant women who have accomplished this in the face of difficulties.

One of these is Miss Alice Beckington of New York, who paints portraits on ivory. Her special excellence is said to be in the delineation of elderly persons, her old ladies having the rare loveliness and her old gentlemen the seasoned courtliness that made the miniatures of Malabone and Isabeau famous. Besides this she has the faculty of painting character—a much more difficult feat, as any artist will tell you, than the mere portraying of beauty.

Miss Beckington belongs to a little group of American artists who have been making history. They are known as the miniature secessionists, and through their efforts the art of miniature painting has been revolutionized. Instead of being conventional copyists, as are most of the English miniaturists, or painters of candy box loveliness like those of the French school, the Americans are style creators, each as individual in his or her way as any idealist on canvas. Their miniature portraits are painted directly from life, and they have the talent and insight to make their creations real works of art.

Recognizing this new school and American pre-eminence the Metropolitan Museum of Art has just purchased specimens of the work of five of the leading miniature artists of America and will add them to the famous collection in its galleries. It must be gratifying to feminists to know that all the artists so honored are women. Among them is Miss Beckington, who was one of the founders of the American Society of Miniature Painters. Those who admire Whistler's famous portrait of his mother say that Miss Beckington's miniature, "My Mother," which has been purchased by the museum, is an equally worthy if less pretentious masterpiece.

One finds in this gifted woman a singularly unaffected and modest personality. At her studio in the Carnegie building or at her summer home at Scituate, Mass., she is equally devoted to her art. She has painted many prominent people and received many honors in the way of medals at exhibitions both here and abroad. She is a member of the American Society of Miniature Painters, the Society of American Artists and the National Academy of Design.

A woman of wide culture, her interest is by no means restricted to the profession in which she excels. Her first art training was received at the Art Student's League where she is now an instructor in miniature painting. She has studied abroad under various masters and at the celebrated Academic Julian of Paris. Unlike most miniature artists Miss Beckington works without the aid of a glass, her eyes being very quick and keen.

The other artists who are included in the group honored by the museum are Mrs. Lucia Fairchild Fuller, Miss Helen M. Turner, Miss Margaret Fote Hawley and Miss Laura Hills of Boston, all of them excelling in various ways in the exquisite miniature art which, after almost a century of neglect, is again enjoying a deserved revival of popularity.

SPOTLIGHTS

SHEEHAN OPERA COMPANY

A company of stars, which embraces such notables as Joseph F. Sheehan, America's greatest tenor, Miss Mirth Carmen, celebrated prima donna, Miss Laura Baer, from the Paris Opera company, whose reputation extends throughout Europe and America, Nelson R. Shanley, one of the foremost baritones of the day, etc., is an event at any time in even the larger cities. When these stars instead of presenting one opera, take three of such famous operas as "Il Trovatore," "Bohemian Girl," "Martha" and select the best there is in all three of the operas and put it into one performance, we have a combination such as one has an opportunity of hearing but once in a lifetime.

The "Il Trovatore" part of the programme consists of the Tower Scene with its world renowned Misere, as well as the entire dungeon scene said to be the most beautiful of the opera. From the "Bohemian Girl" it includes practically everything that is worth while, "Then You'll Remember Me," "I Dreamt I Dwell in Marble Halls," "Bliss Past Forever," etc. The entire second act of "Martha" is given, including "The Last Rose of Summer." The spinning "Wheel Quartet," "The Goodnight Quartet," etc., making a performance which will long be remembered as one of the finest ever heard in this city, as well as one of the most interesting performances of opera ever given anywhere.

The Sheehan Company will be at the La Crosse Theatre tonight.

UNITE TO DROP THE MIDDLEMAN

Federation of Farmers' and Consumers' Produce Association Forms in Kansas

EMPORIA, Kan., June 16.—The Federation of the Farmers and Consumers Produce association, the first of its kind in the United States, was organized here yesterday by 75 delegates from the different farmers' organizations of Kansas.

The purpose of the organization as set out by the laws which were unanimously adopted is:

"To enable the farmers to sell their produce without the aid of middlemen; to foster its members in every way possible; to buy and sell direct from producer to consumer and to secure just railroad service and rates and equal and just service on the markets within our territory."

Reason. If you will not hear reason she will surely rap your knuckles.—Franklin.

Try This if You Have Dandruff Or Are Bothered With Falling Hair or Itching Scalp

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft and look and feel a hundred times better. If you want to keep your hair looking rich, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for nothing destroys hair so quickly. It not only starves the hair and makes it fall out, but it makes it stringy, straggly, dull, dry, brittle and lifeless, and everybody notices it. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

Why not take a trip on the Mississippi river this summer on the fine large sidewheel Steamer "MORNING STAR" to the beautiful Tri-Cities, Davenport-Rock Island-Moline or to St. Paul and Stillwater, commencing June 8th? Leaves La Crosse for St. Paul every Monday at 7 a. m. Leaves La Crosse for the Tri-Cities every Thursday at 2 p. m.

1,500 ATTEND THE PAGEANT OF HOURS OF NORMAL SCHOOL

after a brief dance, scattered to the wideawake flowers crouched in the grass. They aroused them, and the flowers and sunbeams joined in a nimble dance, timed to hurrying music by the orchestra.

The Third Hour

"The third hour brings the buzz of bees, The wind sings softly through the trees; The pageant of tasks its pathway takes To music which merry childhood makes." A parade of students—boys and girls in the costumes typifying forms of education, led the pageant of the third hour parade. Following the students came the butterflies—four little girls in white, with big yellow wings spotted with black. Kindergarten people, these were, and they laughed and danced like veritable butterflies, eluding the nets of the student, evidently an ornithologist, who pursued them across the grass. After the butterflies were children in costumes of various employments—farmers, cooks, carpenters, etc.

The Fourth Hour

"The fourth hour is the study time For boys and girls of every clime. The boys in formal drill pass by To tell us hour the fifth is nigh." The fourth hour on the program was occupied with an athletic drill by ten young men, members of the physical education class. With dumbbells they went through a complicated routine, including march evolutions and pyramid work, all to brisk music.

The Fifth Hour

"To rhythms of work, the fifth hour brings From Normal ranks, the cooks with tins, Mechanics, blacksmiths, farmers, too, Washing, baking, old tasks and new."

As the gymnasts ended their drill, the toilers who had formed part of the pageant of the third hour again took the center of the stage, forming themselves into a big circle. Then, to a snappy tune, the boys and girls went through a dance whose steps and gestures carried out the motions of every day work. "Work rhythms," these were called.

The Sixth Hour

"The music hushed, noon hour draws nigh. The dances end, the sun is high. The workers cease, the bees' soft hum Tell us the hour of rest is come."

As the music which accompanied the "work rhythms" of the sixth hour ended, the toilers dropped into the grass in attitudes of rest, and the sun—Miss Hildreth—appeared. To drowsy music she danced a slow and stately measure, unique and graceful, typifying the reign of the god of day at the height of his orbit.

The Seventh Hour

"The seventh hour, with cooling breeze Rouses the workers—stirs the trees, From rest to work the children Eager each lesson now to turn learn."

With the close of the sun dance, the toilers, resting from their work in the grass, rose and scurried off to the side, resuming their occupations as the eighth hour pageant began.

The Eighth Hour

"The eighth hour comes with sports and play The music swings in merry lays: The normal boys, with right good will, March to and fro in stately drill."

Children of seventh and eighth grades at the normal school, boys and girls, took part in the "rhythms of sports" which marked the eighth hour's pageant. In time to lively music, they raced, leaped and went through motions depicting various games.

The Ninth Hour

"The ninth hour brings the May pole dance The dainty maidens bow and glance; With fancy step and pretty grace, They flit and dance from place to place."

The ninth hour program was one of the prettiest of the series. Five big May poles, crowned with wreaths, were set up, and young people of every age, from the kindergarten up, danced with the variegated streamers. Gnomes and fairies were at one of the May poles, toilers at another, and the others were the centers of groups of varying ages.

The Tenth Hour

"The tenth hour comes with sunset's glow, The robins twitter, sweet and low, The rose dance slow, to stately air, Is danced by white robed maidens fair."

About 100 girls of the junior class at the normal, all in white, danced the rose dance. In sets of four couples they bowed and turned to a measured air, the beauty of the dance increased by the clusters of flowers at their belts and their bright sashes.

The Eleventh Hour

"The sandman brings the gift of sleep; This is the twilight, solemn, deep, A song as soft as day's gleams, Leads to the Fairyland of Dreams."

As the music of the eleventh hour began, half a dozen little lads in pajamas appeared, yawning and stretching. They stumbled sleepily into the center of the stage, and collapsed on the grass as the sandman—Miss Lena Weimar—clad in black, appeared. Singing the Sandman's Song, she went from sleeper to sleeper, over each scattering "sleepy dust" from a little bag.

The Twelfth Hour

"Soft starlight comes, with silver hue, Fairies and elves dance o'er the dew, Sire Time departs through Sunset's gate, The twelfth hour's here, it groweth late."

As the sandman disappeared, came a mischievous crowd, waddling to each sleeper, holding animated conferences and tweaking his hair or ear in impish glee. They in their turn were driven away by a big black bat, who headed a contingent of fairies. The fairies danced about the sleepers, finally carrying them off to pleasant dreams.

As the fairies bore off the sleepers, the orchestra struck up an eerie air, and the goddess of night—Miss Marie Hyde—appeared, robed in cloudy blue and green, with a sparkling crown. She danced a measure at times lively and again slow, at the close of which the spectators applauded heartily.

Credit Due Miss Eustis

Credit for the artistic success of the fete is largely due Miss Laura Eustis, physical training instructor, who was in charge of the details. To the teachers of the various grades, and to the students of this normal school, much praise is due.

Following the pageant, the park presented an animated scene, as the automobiles which were parked to one side of the amphitheater backed out and rolled away and the crowd streamed out to the street across the grass. Many, however, made the fete occasion for a picnic, and parties were visible in all corners of the park.

The Thing He Likes

About the only time the average man feels any real importance is when on an occasional day off he leaves his $20-a-month flat and permits a solicitous and gentlemanly real estate agent to drive him 50 miles around the country in an automobile to show him 18 or 20 $10,000 houses, none of which he has the slightest intention of buying.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Regular Hercules

Whenever there is a street spat nearly every woman has the idea that her husband would be a very fine fellow for carnage if she didn't hold him back.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

STOMACH TROUBLES DUE TO ACIDITY

SO SAYS EMINENT SPECIALIST

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, wind and stomachache are in probably nine cases out of ten simply evidence that fermentation is taking place in the food contents of the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acids. Wind distends the stomach, and causes that full, oppressive feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the fermenting food. Such fermentation is unnatural, and acid formation is not only unnatural, but may involve most serious consequences if not corrected. To stop or prevent fermentation of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid, and render it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of bisulphated magnesia, probably the best and most effective corrector of acid stomach known, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water immediately after eating, or whenever wind or acidity is felt. This stops the fermentation, and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments. Fermentation, wind and acidity are dangerous and unnecessary. Stop or prevent them by the use of a proper antacid, such as bisulphated magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist and thus enable the stomach to do its work properly without being hindered by poisonous gas and dangerous acids.—M.
